Randallstown NAACP congratulates Major Orlando Lilly being named the Superintendent of the Maryland Natural Resources Police Force

Woodlawn, MD-President Coleman released the following statement on the promotion of Major Orlando Lilly.

“This is bittersweet because Colonel Lilly has been instrumental in community policing, diversity and being the best police officer serving the community in Baltimore County. He will be missed. I am happy that he gets to show NRP and that community his talents. The Baltimore County Police Department continues to produce some of the best police officers. Chief McCullogh started out as a Baltimore County police officer, Chief Alexander Jones of the Arlington Police Department started as a Baltimore County police officer. Now Superintendent Lilly has been tapped as the top cop at the NRP police dept. These individuals are the best of us and the best in policing who just happen to be black. Congrats to Superintendent Lilly.”
